

Horticulturist

The ideal candidate is a passionate and knowledgeable plant lover who enjoys working with others and has a strong desire to keep learning and growing in the field of horticulture. The Horticulturist will assist with watering, care and display of plants in the garden center and provide impeccable customer service. This is a retail role that will allow you to get your hands dirty, share your love and knowledge of plants with others and work directly with Tangletown Gardens unique and varied plant inventory. We value curiosity, creativity and continuing education to help each individual grow as part of our talented and hardworking team.

Who we are: Tangletown Gardens is a trend-forward, multi-faceted business that has grown and evolved over two decades. At the heart of everything we do is our 140-acre farm in Plato, MN where we grow plants for our garden center and landscape operations as well as food for our restaurant, CSA program and Farm Direct store. We are committed to growing locally, using regenerative agriculture practices and humane animal husbandry. This means that we actively work to rebuild our soils, we never use harsh chemicals, and our animals are pasture-raised. The garden center in South Minneapolis is a destination where our customers can experience our signature design-driven style and explore ways to go beyond the ordinary. We offer a diverse selection of rare and unusual houseplants, perennials, trees and shrubs, distinctive pottery and garden art and a curated collection of art, gifts and decor. Our landscape and design teams bring the Tangletown Gardens aesthetic to life in public spaces, private gardens, containers and interior plant installations throughout the area.

We are committed to beauty as a core value, creativity as a way of being, and sustainability as the foundational principle of everything we do. We thrive on doing things differently.
